

Economy of Argentina

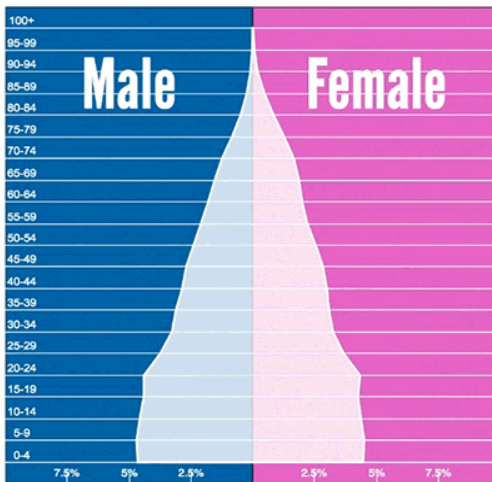

Statistics:

- ❖ Population:- 41,446,246
- ❖ Urban population :- 91.452% of total
- ❖ Infant Mortality Rate:- 11.9 per 100 live births
- ❖ Age dependency ratio:- 54.278% of working age population

Argentina
2000

Population: 36.935.000

Government:

- ❖ Official name of a country:- Argentine Republic
- ❖ Leader:- President cristina Fernandez de kichenet
- ❖ The government control of economy:- the government controls the economy its 44.6%
- ❖ Trade Statistics are
 - Top import partners:- Brazil, China, USA
 - Top export partners:- Brazil, Chile, China
 - Top export goods:- Animal feeds, Motor vehicles, cereals
 - Top import goods:- Motor vehicles, minerals fuel, Industrial machine

Economics:

Income level:- High amount

Level of development:- developing

GDP per capita:- $17.674

GDP growth%:- 2.925%

GDP PPP:- $720 Billion

GDP rank:- 26 out of 192

Top industries:- Food processing, Motor vehicles, consumer durables, Textiles.

GDP composition percentage

Agriculture:-6.98%

Services:-64.56%

Industry:-28.4%

Manufacturing :-15.27%

Weaknesses:

There is high inflation and high unemployment rate.
Political and economic freedom
low GDP per capita
That shows us that there is corruption.

Strengths:

We are not growing fast but our economy is good

Recommendations:

In order to raise Argentina's economy there must be faithful
And truthful government that means free from corruption.

Executive Summary

- I learned that Argentina has a good economy but still considered as developing country basically this is a nice way to undeveloped country and this is because of the corruption the people in the power do. I have also learned some important economy like what they export and import.